SUBJECT: Personnel Recovery

SEE DISTRIBUTION

1. Purpose. This letter prescribes Army policy concerning the goals and responsibilities within the Department of the Army regarding Personnel Recovery (PR). Personnel Recovery is required by federal statute and implemented through Department of Defense Directives (DODD) and Instructions (DODI), joint doctrine, and Army policy. This policy establishes the basis for the development of a coordinated PR program within the Department of the Army to support national and combatant commander objectives. The information in this policy will be incorporated into the next changes of all pertinent Army regulations, doctrine, organization, training, materiel, leadership and education, personnel, and facility requirements (DOTMLPF).

2. Proponent and exception authority. The proponent of this HQDA letter is the Deputy Chief of Staff, G-3 (DCS, G-3). The DCS, G-3 has the authority to approve exceptions to this policy that are consistent with current federal statute, DOD policy, and Army regulations and operational requirements. The proponent may delegate exception approval authority, in writing, to a division chief within the proponent agency in the rank of colonel or above, or the civilian equivalent.

3. References. Required and related publications and prescribed and referenced forms are listed in appendix A.

4. Explanation of abbreviations and terms. Abbreviations and special terms are listed in the glossary.

5. Applicability. This policy applies to the Active Army, members and organizations of the Army National Guard (ARNG)/Army National Guard of the United States (ARNGUS), the U.S. Army Reserve, the Department of the Army (DA) civilians, and DA contractor personnel (when authorized by contract) unless otherwise stated. This policy supercedes all existing Army regulations regarding Personnel Recovery.

6. Background.

a. Personnel Recovery is the sum of diplomatic, civil, and military efforts to report, locate, support, recover, and return and/or repatriate U.S. military, DOD civilians, and DOD contractors, and others as directed by the Secretary of Defense (SECDEF) who are captured, detained, evading, isolated, or missing while participating in a U.S.-sponsored activity or mission (see CJCSI 3270.01A).

b. Section 1501 of Title 10, United States Code and DODD 2310.2 require the Services to develop supportive PR policies, programs, and capabilities. Personnel Recovery is based on a national policy that covers many different yet related programs to include prevention training, conducting military search and rescue, recovery of isolated personnel, and repatriation of hostages, detainees, prisoners of war, or persons missing or killed in action. Yellow Ribbon refers to the DOD plans and actions related to processing returned U.S. personnel and is implemented through DODI 2310.4.

c. The need for a PR policy is driven by historical events where Americans were taken captive or evading. In most situations personnel had little training to prepare them for these events. In many cases political solutions resulted in the safe return and repatriation of personnel after months or years of confinement. Recovery and repatriation were typically conducted on short notice without adequate planning or coordination due to the lack of specific guidance.

d. This document defines Army policy to enable PR throughout the spectrum of military operations, activities, and scenarios ranging from peacetime operations to high intensity warfare. It establishes the requirement for Army leaders to plan, prepare, and execute PR operations as part of a joint force within the scope of Army capabilities, combatant commander requirements, and national objectives. The policy requires the development of a DOTMLPF solution and a consistent methodology for managing PR and associated tasks.

7. Goals.

a. Implement an effective Army PR policy based on applicable guidance, directives, and requirements in federal statute and DOD policy.

b. Develop a consolidated PR program that uses a balanced DOTMLPF solution to provide Army forces capable of executing PR tasks specified by the combatant commander.

c. Ensure the Army is prepared to conduct PR in support of DOD PR requirements and combatant commander's PR programs throughout the entire spectrum of military operations.

d. Develop standardized Army PR procedures and capabilities suited for U.S. military, DA civilian, and DA contractor personnel throughout the range of military operations.

e. Ensure appropriate health care intervention and follow-up is provided for returned or repatriated personnel based on individual need.

8. Responsibilities.

a. Principal officials of Headquarters, Department of the Army, as the functional proponents for their respective areas of responsibility, will develop, implement, and oversee programs to integrate the PR process and requirements into their functional areas or readiness domains. This includes defining and budgeting for organizational missions, force structure, and resources required for implementing this policy. The DCS, G-3; DCS, G-1; and The Surgeon General are the principal advisors and assistants to the Secretary of the Army for PR matters.

b. The Commander, United States Joint Forces Command (USJFCOM) is the executive agent for PR, which includes repatriation. The Joint Personnel Recovery Agency (JPRA) is the USJFCOM office of primary responsibility (OPR) for PR guidance and procedures. The Office of the Deputy Chief of Staff, G-3 (DAMO-OD) is the Army OPR for PR, including repatriation.
